

Personal Information Protection Policy

(Hereinafter referred to as "Next's Industry") complies with laws, regulations, guidelines, and policies regarding personal information, and has established the following policy for the appropriate protection and use of customers' personal information.

1. Acquisition of personal information

Personal information shall be acquired appropriately through business activities, etc., and the purpose of use shall be made clear at the time of acquisition.

2. Limitation of use

Personal information shall not be used for any purpose other than the intended use.

However, personal information will be used except in the following cases

When the person concerned has given consent, or when permitted by law, guidelines, or guidelines.

When we use the information in a manner that does not allow identification of individuals (e.g., statistics of users).

3. Disclosure of personal information to third parties

We do not provide personal information to third parties.

However, we will use the information except in the following cases

When we have the customer's consent to disclose personal information to a subcontractor with whom we have concluded a confidentiality agreement for the purpose of use.

When the customer consents to the disclosure of personal information.

When permitted by law, guidelines, guidelines, etc.

When a public agency orders us to disclose the information in accordance with laws and regulations.

4. Management of personal information

To prevent leakage of personal information, we will take appropriate measures, such as environmental maintenance and employee training.

When requested by the customer, we will disclose, correct, or delete the information.

The above privacy policy is subject to revision due to changes in laws and regulations or other reasons.

Please check this Privacy Policy periodically for any changes.